FAILURES IN ENGLAND.

The Liverpool Times says that some very distressing circumstances have come to light in reference to recent failures in the mercantile world.

It is said that a party, whose suspension was recently mentioned in the newspapers, had realized private property to the amount of $5,000 per annum, the whole of which has been lost through cotton speculations, and that he is now, in his sixty-fifth year, left destitute with eighteen children, four of whom are deaf and dumb.

In another case the whole establishment of a gentleman residing in Hyde Park Gardens has been dismissed, and pending the sale of the property, the domestic duties are performed by the young ladies of the household, who, until within the last few weeks, were surrounded by every accessory of wealth and refinement.

MEMORY.—It is said of Cardinal Richelieu, that when he built his magnificent palace on the site of his old family chateau at Richelieu, he sacrificed its symmetry to preserve the room in which he was born. An attachment of this nature is generally characteristic of a benevolent mind; and a long acquaintance with the world cannot always extinguish it. "To a friend," says John, Duke of Buckingham, "I will expose my weakness. I am oftener missing a pretty gallery in the old house I pulled down, than pleased with a saloon which I built in its stead, though a thousand times better in all respects." This is the language of the heart, and will remind the reader of the good humored remark in one of Pope's letters—"I should hardly care to have an old post pulled up, that I had remembered ever since a child.

A SHORT SPEECH FROM PRESIDENT LINCOLN.—Recently two ladies came before the President, asking the release of their husbands, held as prisoners of war at Johnson's Island. They had three interviews with Mr. Lincoln, at each of which one of the ladies urged that her husband was a religious man. The President finally yielded and released the men, but in doing so, said to the lady with a religious husband: "You say your husband is a religious man; tell him when you meet him that I say I am not much of a judge of religion, but that, in my opinion, the religion that sets men to rebel and fight against their Government because, as they think, that Government does not sufficiently help some men to eat their bread in the sweat of other men's faces, is not the sort of religion upon which people can go to heaven."

From things come not back: the broken word, the sped arrow, the past life, and the neglected opportunity.

It is common that there is a little too much of the good things of France.

Brigham as a Comedian.

We have heard that Brigham, at one time in his life of varied experience, was a candidate for dramatic honors and, really, we are led to believe from specimens of his skill in this line, that had he stuck to the career for which nature seems so admirably to have fitted him, his success must have been unbounded. It has been our notion all along that the role of the big villain was his peculiar forte, but we were mistaken. His talents are of the versatile order which descend from the higher flights of tragedy and take to comedy naturally as a duck does to water.

Brigham, however, has a style of solemn drollery which is quite inimitable and entirely his own. He advocates the encouragement of "native talent" and sets the example himself.

His last appearance was as "Governor" in that immensely funny affair, the farce entitled, "The State of Deseret." He took his role with that ridiculous gravity he knows so well how to assume when playing the fool, and delivered his message in a style superbly comic. This feature of the performance was alone well worth the price of admission, which was—nothing.

The audience, who were also actors, were very select and appreciative, consisting of Representatives of—Lord knows what, and Senators without salaries or sense—a very economical arrangement and quite necessary, considering the important fact that the "State" which they represent (in the play only) is in a condition somewhat similar to that imaginary island of which Sancho Panza was to be Governor. With respect to salaries these worthies are on much the same footing as the "native talent" in Brigham's other theater.

The actors, from long practice 'tis said, have become well-nigh perfect and, on this occasion, went through the farce with a serious decorum refreshingly ludicrous, appearing to lose themselves completely in their parts and evidently forgetful that it was not a reality. In fact, the illusion seems so perfect with them that it is necessary for one to remember there is "nothing in it," after all, to know where the laugh comes in. There are no female characters in the piece as they are all supposed to be at home taking care of young polygamy.

For a full description of the affair, how the audience arose and saluted the "Governor" on his entrance—we refer our readers to the "Dead Sea Telegraph," that comic paper published down town, the editor of which does write such funny leaders. We regret that our invitation was not received in time to permit our attendance, as this really good thing only comes off once a year, it is so very laughable the people can't stand it. But next year, if alive, we mean to go and see—if we "can't see it."

The "Dead Sea Telegraph" calls attention to Superintendent Irish's notice to persons in Uinta Valley, warning them that none but such as have permission will be allowed to remain, as it is set aside as an Indian Reservation. The editor thinks, "that prospecting crowd will no doubt take the hint."

We have heard of only one "prospecting crowd" in that vicinity lately, and they are believed to be of the polygamic patriarchal persuasion. They are "prospecting" for horses, and have already "taken" several, so, perhaps, it would be as well for them to "take the hint."

The Spanish-Panama question seems more intricate than ever. The commanders of the Peruvian fleet have, it is said, informed their President of their inability to cope with the Spaniards.

The following charge, strictly religious and unquestionably legal, was proclaimed by Heber C. Kimball, in the Mormon Tabernacle, on Sunday, April 10th, 1864. We respectfully dedicate the same to Artemus Ward, Esq.:

You have heard what has been said by President Young. There is not an individual here that has the Holy Ghost. But what has said that's true; that's true and that's true. We are right all the time. Those who are cut off from this church are like the branches cut from a tree; they will lose all nourishment, wither and die. The damdest fools that I ever saw are the blue-bellied Baptists. They are so positive that they can't produce anything (Laughter). I am the best physician in this valley. I have no use for doctors. I hardly ever sent for one to doctor a child of mine, but the child died. If I had my way I would send them all on missions, to East Africa. While coming out of the theater last night, a stone was thrown at me, as large as my fist. It just shaved my head. That is the spirit that is abroad in this community. The devil is mad at us for cutting off those from the church yesterday. The keys of heaven and hell will never be taken from us.

The house of God is the house of order and not of confusion. I want you to keep order. You may laugh when the time comes. I believe in laughing; it does me good (Laughter). Don't you feel better when you laugh? I know you do. I have talked with Joseph and Hiram Smith. They were both jovial. The clergy of the world publish that Jesus Christ never smiled, when on earth. I don't believe it. I go to the theater to laugh. I like to see something funny. I don't want any of your solemn plays. I like something oriental (Laughter). I was a blue bellied Baptist for several years before I joined the Mormon church, and I was getting quite blue when I joined the saints. It was a long time before it wore off. We cut off yesterday, men from this church for refusing to pay tithing. They have broken their covenants. They promised to do so before God, men and angels. They consecrate themselves and all they have to the church. This is a holy priesthood by descent. It will overthrow and break in pieces everything that opposes it. This generation will never kill me nor Brigham Young. They have killed one prophet, but they will not kill any more. The United States will feel the effects of famine, and I should not wonder if they felt it this year. These things are bound to come, and the United States will get it first. I pray that this land may prove a curse to those who trouble us. They shall fall from this day in all their efforts. I took everything that came from Joseph Smith as though it came from God. It is just the same with Brigham. My mother was the best mother that ever I had (laughter). I never had a pair of trousers on until I was nine years old, a pair of shoes until I was eleven. Brigham was brought up in the same way (Laughter). Yet we are about two of the best men that ever lived. We shall live to save the Constitution. Let the strangers come here, I will supply them with bread—at twenty dollars per hundred. George A. Smith, historian, remarked that we desire to obtain the names and whereabouts of all who were driven from Jackson county. If we take a notion to go back I want to know who to call upon. You can leave your names at the historian's office.

Mr. Wells remarked that he knew that Joseph Smith was a prophet, and these people were the people of God. Brigham Young holds the keys of the priesthood, he stands in the place of Joseph Smith. I know this to be true. In a gentile court it is very hard for a Mormon to get justice, even where the evidence is all in his favor. There was nothing done with the murderers of Joseph Smith. They walked the streets apparently quite popular with the community. Some were sent to Congress. Our rulers in Washington are corrupt men; bad women can influence them in their public acts. I want every one who has not a gun to get one. I want you to buy ammunition and learn how to use it. Be ready for the calls of your officers at a moment's notice. By arming ourselves we shall have much trouble. The enemy will take advantage of us if we leave the bars down. We must depend on ourselves. Amen.

A suit has been terminated which has been pending in Hungary for over one hundred and eighty years.

A man named Miles, says the S. R. Flag, lately walked in London, four miles in twenty-nine minutes. "He is decidedly on it."

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL TO THE DAILY VEDETTE.]

Washington, Jan. 23d.

The duty on book and news paper, as provided for in the House resolution today, is three per cent. ad valorem.

City Point, Jan. 23d.

One of my staff has just returned from Fort Fisher with dispatches from Gen. Terry, from which I extract the following: On the 16th the enemy blew up Forts Caswell and Campbell and abandoned them and the works of Smith's Island and those at Smith's and Reeves' Point. Each place was occupied by the navy. The whole number of guns captured, amounts to 164. A large number of small arms also fell into our hands, besides large quantities of ordnance and commissary stores. Our casualties prove to be smaller than at first reported; they foot up 12 officers and 107 men killed and 45 officers and 490 men wounded.

Quebec, Jan. 24th.

At the opening of the debate in Parliament last night, the Government was sustained by a large majority. The conduct of southern refugees in Canada was strongly denounced and the determination was expressed to end the abuse of the asylum. Commission was issued to inquire into the cause of the failure of justice with reference to the release of the St. Albans raiders.

Special to A. M. B.:

Chicago, Jan. 24th.

To A. M. B.: In regard to the New York telegram last night about the California mail, the St. Louis correspondent of the Alta, telegraphs me as follows: The Indians hold the overland route from Julesburg to a point beyond Valley Station this side of Denver City. The route, I am assured, will be opened inside of sixty days.

RANKIN.

New York, Jan. 24th.

The Times' special says that peace rumors increase in number and extravagancies, but are without any substantial foundation.

Blair brought a letter from Jeff Davis saying that whenever the United States would receive commissioners from the Confederate States, they would be appointed. On his return to Richmond, Blair took a letter with the reported assurance of the President, in a document addressed, "to whom it may concern."

Blair has no authority to intimate in any way that the Government will open negotiations that will imply the existence of the Confederate Government.

The World's Savannah letter says, all business has been suspended in Charleston, and non-combatants are preparing to leave. There are comparatively few troops in the city, all of which that could be spared, having been sent to Branchville to contest Gen. Sherman's advance. There appears no doubt that Charleston will be evacuated and the only opposition that Sherman will meet may be expected at Brownsville.

New York, Jan. 24th.

A special to the express says, Ex-President Pierce is hourly expected here, and is said to be one of the peace Commissioners.

Washington, Jan. 24th.

In the Senate McDougal offered a bill to re-establish the mail steamship service between the United States and China—referred to the Committee on Post offices and Post roads.

New York, Jan. 24th.

The steamer spalding, from Fort Fisher the 22d, reports that a number of our gunboats have gone up Cape Fear river and are engaged in shelling the woods on both sides to dislodge the enemy.

The Richmond Examiner of the 20th says, the latest from Hood reports his army in fine spirits and on their way to Corinth. The supercedure of Hood by Dick Taylor is confirmed.

The Whig and Sentinel are out in bitter articles against the re-union.

Washington, Jan. 24th.

This afternoon a fire broke out in the Smithsonian Institute building, in the loft above the picture gallery. There were some two hundred of Stanley's pictures in the gallery, and but five or six were saved. The loss is very serious. The large library in the west wing was not damaged.

New York, Jan. 24th.

The Richmond Enquirer hopes the Virginia Legislature will pass resolutions tendering to the Confederate government a full consent of the state to the proposition of abolition to France and England, upon the establishment of the independence, and pledging the state to make good the act soon after the treaty of peace is signed, as a proper regard for the security will permit. The cause of the country has demanded and has received the services of all her citizens, and has taken the lives of very many; it has also stripped the land of all its provisions. Now, let cotton, tobacco, gold, silver and negroes, be devoted to the success of our cause.

The Richmond Sentinel says: No wilder hallucination could take possession of the human mind than the belief that we could ever again live with the Yankees, on terms of equality, or come under the same government with them, except as a conquered people. The difference of sentiment and feelings, diversities and interest which legislative and conservative statesmanship might have reconciled, have, under councils of madness seen fit to disturb the peace of all the world, hardened to enduring antagonism.

The Enquirer of the 21st congratulates its readers and the country on the restoration of Gen. Johnson to the command of the armies of the west.

The same paper says if McCox's resolution cannot find favor with the Republican House of Representatives, no Confederate can hope for any terms other than an ignominious surrender. Let peace slide, and let us turn our whole attention to war. The negroes recommended by the President have not been provided. Will not Congress immediately take action and secure forty thousand. The enemy will not offer us any terms other than those of submission as long as they have a prestige of success. If we would have peace we must gain victories. The army must have more men and new and better organization.

The Richmond Examiner has a long editorial on the peace movements. It argues there is no use in talking about negotiations or terms, and that there are now two courses possible to be pursued; one is the prosecution of the war to a successful termination, or the abandonment of the contest and unconditional surrender, which requires no negotiations.

New York, Jan. 25th.

The Times' Washington special says, it is generally understood now that Blair did not go in any sense as a representative of the Gov't to Richmond and that he is not authorized to encourage the hope that any overtures for peace will be made or accepted, which look however remotely toward the division of the Union; nor is it believed the rebels are yet prepared to treat on any other terms. The popular sentiment has overruled the desire of the rebel government for peace. When their armies are destroyed they will make peace. Mr. Blair has not returned. The Gov't has been assured that the Canadian authorities have determined to remove all chances of dissatisfaction on the part of this country growing out of the recent occurrences. Judge Coursal will be removed and this will probably lead to a speedy abrogation of the peace system.

New York, Jan. 25th.

By the Atlanta, from Mobile, it is reported that a formidable expedition had left Forts Morgan and Gaines up the east side of the Pascagoula river to take a position in rear of Mobile, placing the city partly at the mercy of the troops. The river was found navigable and its position cannot fail to render the City of easy capture. Despatches report that there is much dissatisfaction with the rebel Gov't in Mobile.

The Salt Lake Telegraph has an ambiguous idea on some questions of progress if not of public interest. Speaking of the "Fort Lyon" meaning the battle of Sand Creek, it devotes lengthy lucubrations to the editorial columns to the matter in general, and the "massacre" of the "nomadic red brethren" in general. After wading to our eyes in some of the labored leaders, we cannot for the us "see the point" of his process, ing, or his "principles" on the subject. Ismaelism in its ideas of Federal unity and frontier interest, what is such organ good for?—Denver News, Jan. 12th.

If our friend at Denver lived out here, he would have no difficulty in "seeing the point." Some have felt it. The "lengthy lucubrations" are all right. They have not missed their mark. Whilom sanctioners of the "F. L. A." whom we wot of, and located between this and Washington, D. C., have been all "aggrims" and "regrets" of late.—L. Telegraph, Jan. 21st.

Mrs. Julia Dean Hayne is to fill engagement at Victoria, B. C., soon.

The total number of men made free by the events of the war is estimated at 4,368,600.

A "hoot owl and a pair of snapping turtles" are announced as recent contributions to the Central Park Menagerie, in New York.

HENRY R. Schoolcraft, the Indian historian, died in Washington on the 15th of December.

HOAXED.—A noted Cincinnati clergyman and an undertaker lately met at a house of ill fame in that city, the former having been summoned to attend a wedding, and the latter to lay out a corpse. There were a good many girls in the house, but none of them were dead and none wanted to be married, and their peals of laughter convinced the parson and the undertaker that they had been sold. The letter summoning the minister contained a ten dollar bill, which was afterwards found to be counterfeit.

A new dodge at New York is for a well-dressed and well-appearing pretty young woman to step out to you and pathetically ask you for aid for her poor sick mother. You take out your pocket book, being melted by her touching story and good looks, and just then a fellow who has come up behind you snatches away your pocket book and makes off.

The seven mile guns are the latest "sweet thing" in war.

Local Matters.

Mr. W. I. Appleby, Esq. has located a Law Office in S. L. City. He will attend all cases in any of the Courts in Utah, in which his services may be required. The references named in his advertisement, and the long practice he has experienced in this Territory are the very best recommendation he could possibly have. Having the pleasure of a personal acquaintance, we have ever known Mr. Appleby to be a thorough gentleman, and from general reputation as a lawyer, he is well deserving of a liberal patronage.

The thermometer, on Tuesday morning, stamped the temperature in these parts at 5° above zero, and yesterday at 7° above. The above are the coldest mornings yet experienced this winter at Camp Douglas. We were at Camp Connor last winter at this date with the thermometer at 40° below zero.

UTAH VALLEY is declared by Congress as an "Indian Reservation." Any one of the "White" persuasion will do well to vacate that location ere Spring rolls round.

Lieut.-Col. GEORGE was honored with a Grenade by the Camp Band on Tuesday night last.

THE Stages of the Overland Mail Co. leave S. L. City daily for the West at 9 A. M.

ALBERT E. SMITH, of Taunton, Mass., who had lost both legs in the war, voted for Lincoln and Johnson, and a collection of nearly five hundred dollars was taken up for him on the spot.

DURING an investigation in London, into the death of a Mr. Stephens, a rigger, it transpired that the wife had stripped the dead body of all the clothes which he wore, and had pawned them for drinks.

The first newspaper printed in England was during the reign of Queen Elizabeth, and was called the English Mercurio, and was issued by the government during the Spanish Armada, to prevent the circulation of false reports.

W. I. APPLEBY,

ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW, will practice in all the Courts of Utah. Debts collected, Deeds, Leases, Powers of Attorney etc. legally drawn up, and Acknowledgements, Depositions, etc., taken according to Law, for any of the States or Territories. ### SUPERINTENDENCY OF INDIAN AFFAIRS.

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, U. T., January 25, 1885.

NOTICE is hereby given that under an order of the President of the United States, dated October 3rd, 1831, the "Entire portion of the Valley of the Utah River within Utah Territory, extending on both sides of said river to the crest of the first range of contiguous mountains on each side," was directed to be set apart as an Indian Reservation.

That by the provisions of an Act of Congress, approved May 5th, 1864, (see chapter 77 of the laws of 1864, pamphlet ed., page 63) the Utah Valley Reservation is "Set apart for the permanent settlement and exclusive occupation of such of the different tribes of Indians of Utah Territory as may be induced to inhabit the same."

Therefore, notice is hereby given under instructions of the Department of the Interior transmitted to me through the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, "That all white settlers must forthwith remove from the Utah Reservation," and that on the opening of spring "all persons found therein unlawfully," "that is, without a license to trade, a passport, or permission of the proper Indian authorities, will be removed," and that the laws of the United States, applicable to Indian Reservations, will be enforced.

O. H. IRISH, Sup't Ind. Affairs.

Elizabeth Washington, a great-grand niece of the world-renowned Washington, died in this city a day or two since. Had she lived until this morning she would have completed her ninety-second year. Her funeral took place yesterday afternoon, and was attended by a number of our older citizens. Among the mourners may have been seen a colored servant of the Washington family, who was in the eighty-eighth year of her age, and is now entirely blind. Washington Chronicle, Dec. 2nd.

Nearly all the most celebrated hot springs of Europe, such as those of Aix-la-Chapelle, Baden Baden, Naples, Argenne and the Pyrenees, have not declined in temperature since the days of the Romans; for many of them still retain as great a heat as is tolerable to the human body; and yet when employed by the ancients they do not seem to have required to be first cooled down by artificial means. This uniformity of temperature has been thus maintained for some two thousand years.

AN INTERESTING OCCURRENCE.—Archbishop Cullen on becoming aware of the proposed fight between Mace and Coburn, issued a letter to his clergy, requesting them to warn their congregation that the Church excommunicates the principals in such fights, "their seconds, all who encourage them, and all who designedly become spectators of such unworthy scenes." Mace and Coburn are described in the Archbishop's letter as "foreign pugilists."

"THE EVERLASTING DARKEY."—The Richmond chivalry have found a new plague in commercial transactions. Ladies and gentlemen at auction are forced to bid in competition with swarthy negroes, who monopolize the most eligible positions and claim the nod of the auctioneer. What is worse, the chivalry don't see any way of getting rid of the dusky Mrs. Toddlers.

As two urchins were trotting along together, one of them fell and broke a pitcher he was carrying. He commenced crying, when the other boy asked him why he took on so.

"Cause," said he, "when I get home mother will whip me for breaking the mug."

"What?" said the other, "hain't you got no grandmother living at your house?"

"No," was the reply.

"Well, I have; and I might break two mugs and they daren't whip me."

A CLASSICAL JOKE.—"Bring me a bottle of hock," said a gentleman dining at a hotel; hic, haec, hock.

The waiter departed, but no wine came. "Didn't I tell you to bring me a bottle of hock?" inquired the gentleman, as the waiter soon after came that way.

"Yes sir," replied the other, but I thought you afterwards declined it."

MR. JONES.—"You know, my dear, that I am liable to constipation, and in case the habes corpore should fail, that—"

Mrs. Jones.—"Don't give your self a moment's uneasiness on my account, Jones. If you must have a subscription I have no doubt that I can."
